

Peerless-AV® Showcases PeerSound™ Wireless Audio System (ADS100-B) at CEDIA Booth #1341

DENVER – September 11, 2014 – Peerless-AV®, the leader in digital signage and AV solutions, is excited to showcase the PeerSound™ Wireless Audio System at the CEDIA EXPO 2014 Booth #1341.

The industry's first and only rack mountable wireless audio transmission system with a remote antenna, the Peerless-AV PeerSound™ provides a reliable wireless solution for zoned audio systems or can be used to support surround sound applications – especially in areas that are difficult and/or costly to run speaker wires.

As a rack mountable solution, the PeerSound™ easily integrates into the component rack for a quick, flexible installation that provides an aesthetically pleasing look for customers. The remote antenna mounting capability allows for moving the antenna up to 10 feet away from structures that reduce WiFi performance.

The PeerSound™ offers an in-wall or on-wall amplifier, allowing for clean installations and hidden wires, even when cutting drywall isn't an option. Unlike many other solutions available, the PeerSound™ interfaces with any audio component for source or speaker, giving customers the freedom to use the brands and equipment they are used to. Additionally, the PeerSound™ creates its own wireless network so it does not affect any existing wireless data network service.

With eight independent channels, the PeerSound™ removes the need for multiple transmitters. Featuring a built in 120/240 volt power supply, the PeerSound™ gives installers the freedom to forgo high voltage to low voltage converters, offering more install flexibility and ease.

The PeerSound™ is currently available through Peerless-AV® direct sales representatives and authorized distribution network.
